$10,000,000 DAMAGE BY ZEPPELIN RAID

Germans Assert They Dropped Bombs in the Heart of London, Killed 400 Soldiers and Damaged Warships.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, via Sayville Wireless, Oct. 18.—Over $10,000,000 damage was done in the last Zeppelin raid over England, the Overseas News Agency stated today. Bombs fell in the very heart of London. Many heavy explosive projectiles fell in Regent street, one of the main arteries of London.

The information is based on accounts by "eye witnesses," the agency states. Four hundred soldiers were killed at Grimsby when the barracks were hit, it is stated. Two warships anchored at Hull were damaged. A cruiser, anchored in the Humber river, was also hit.

More than 100 buildings were destroyed or heavily damaged. Near the London and Brighton railroad station in London ten houses were completely demolished by three heavy bombs. An ammunition factory was blown up in a suburb south of London.

Liverpool street station in London was shelled and the railway tracks damaged. Seven benzol tanks on the banks of the Thames were exploded. At Hull buildings were destroyed, only the walls remaining standing. Heavy damage was done at Leeds, where there are many ammunition factories.

The alcohol factory of Pink and Sons at Portsmouth and the sheds of Elkers and Fyfe were destroyed. Twelve cars filled with horses were blown up. The docks at Portsmouth were struck and railway cars standing there were hit.

The Overseas Agency quotes from the London weekly paper, "The World," of date of October 3, as follows:

"From many parts of the country arrive complaints about superfluous warnings against Zeppelins, which, thanks to the nervousness of policemen help the Germans. I am sure that the real object of these airships is not the killing of women and children nor the terrifying of the population, but the restriction of our ammunition output by bringing their operations to a standstill during the working hours, were lost this week. Therefore we had better give warning and put out lights only when the airships are 30 or 40 miles distant."

German papers, the agency goes on, compare these results with affirmations of British papers that air attacks have not caused any damage. They point out the fact that the British government blockaded the cables to the International News Service because it sent "incorrect" reports to New York about the success of German airships.

The raid referred to by the agency was made on September 23.

SUBMARINE RAID INCIDENT CLOSED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 18.—The raid of the U-53 off the American coast is closed so far as this government is concerned. No diplomatic communication will be made to England or to Germany concerning the submarine. The facts as revealed officially will, however, be given to any government asking them.

State department officials today stated that no official recognition would be taken of the statement in the House of Lords by Viscount Grey, British secretary of state, for foreign affairs, that the operations of the U-53 were similar to those of British warships near American ports, which caused this government dissatisfaction. The raid of the submarine is looked upon in official circles as an isolated case and unless other raids on commerce are made Germany will not be asked to keep her submarines off the American coast "as a friendly favor."

Officials here today were surprised at Viscount Grey's statement that "it is possible there will be further discussion" of the question of entrance of German submarines into American ports. The American government has made it plain that submarines are to receive the same rights as other warships at American ports. It is believed here that this subject may be used in an effort to draw attention from the British boycott of American firms and stop the administration from employing the retaliatory powers at President Wilson's command.

HORTON WOMAN IS SENT TO BEDFORD

Notorious Character is Arrested by Officer Welsh at 3 O'clock This Morning—Known About Town as "The Swede."

Jeanette Horton, 19 years old, who said she was a former resident of Troy, N. Y., and who has been about town for several weeks, was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning by Policeman James E. Welsh on a charge of being a disorderly person. She was arraigned before Recorder Lang this morning, who sentenced her to the New York State Reformatory for Women at Bedford, N. Y. Horton woman since her arrival in Kingston has acquired the nickname of "The Swede," and Recorder Lang informed her today that he had heard numerous stories of her behavior about town. She said she was innocent of all wrong doing, and had been making preparations to go to New York this week, which were nipped in the bud by her arrest. The stories told about her acts were indescribably filthy and unfit for publication.

OPEN CONFERENCE AT MOHONK LAKE

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 18.—About two hundred leading experts in American Indian or colonial matters gathered here today for the thirty-fourth Lake Mohonk Conference on the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples.

The wrongs and needs of the dependent peoples will be presented by representatives of the Indian Service, the Board of Indian Commissioners, the Indian Rights Association and many leaders of the races discussed.

George Vaux, Jr., and Warren K. Moorehead, of the Board of Indian Commissioners, will talk on dangers to which the Indian is exposed because of inherited wealth and political influence. Dr. Ales Hrdlicka of the Smithsonian Institution will give a scientific presentation of the needs of Indian administration. Speakers on the Philippines will probably include former vice-governor Newton W. Gilbert, Edward B. Bruce of Manila, Norbert Lyons of the Manila Daily Bulletin, and Major Harry S. Howland, formerly of the Philippine Scouts.

Others expected to be heard are former U. S. Senator R. F. Pettigrew, Dr. C. B. Davenport of the Carnegie Institute, Dr. Ellsworth Huntington, Dr. Thomas W. Salmon, of the United States Public Health Service; Dr. William J. Chamberlain, Corresponding Secretary of the Board for Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America; and Dr. Leonard P. Ayres of the Russell Sage Foundation. Dr. Samuel A. Eliot is presiding at the conference, which will last three days.

Grangers to Make Visit.

Plans for the entertainment of the Lake Katrine Grangers by the Cronomer Valley members on October 21 were furthered at a meeting held Friday night in Cronomer Valley. The notification committee, Miss Natalie C. Barnes, Miss Lottie Bell and Guernsey Sheeley, is sending notices to all members. A number of prominent grangers are expected to the meeting. Both Cronomer and Lake Katrine will furnish the program. The lecture hour will be at seven o'clock and guests are invited. The hall will be painted during the week for Friday's meeting.

Fire in Pine Bush.

Fire accompanied by an explosion of a large tank of illuminating gas did $5,000 damage in Pine Bush, Orange county, Sunday morning when C. C. Westfall's hardware store and home and the central office of the telephone company were destroyed. The noise of the explosion was heard for miles and its force sent blazing timbers in all directions making the work of the firemen difficult. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

85 Coal in Poughkeepsie?

Poughkeepsie coal dealers are talking about $8 a ton coal, alleging a shortage of production and of railroad cars. At the mines $5.50 a long ton is being paid. Add to this $1.80 to the railroads for hauling the coal to Poughkeepsie, and the dealer has paid $7.30 for a long ton (2,200 pounds), leaving him a narrow margin of about 79 cents worth of coal to pay himself for handling and delivering.

WAR AT A GLANCE

Developments in Greece within the past 48 hours overshadow news of fighting. A state of affairs based on anarchy exists in Athens as a result of the landing of bluejackets and marines from Allied warships and news of the abdication of King Constantine would not come as a surprise. Constantine is still resisting the demand of the Entente and Rome reports that the pro-German propaganda is gathering fresh momentum.

The attempted counter-offensive of the Germans on two fronts has failed to gain them any decisive advantage. On the Somme front the Germans gained some first line trenches from the French but were immediately ejected. On the eastern front the Austro-German forces secured an advantage in the Carpathians but lost heavily in the fighting.

Romanian forces are attacking the Austro-Germans all along the line. South of Kronstadt Von Falkenhayn's troops were forced back along the Transylvania border.

Hungerford Entertains Authors.

Edward Hungerford, the well-known author and recognized authority on railroads, was the host at a luncheon given in honor of Irvin S. Cobb and Charles E. Van Loan in New York city last week. Mr. Van Loan is nearly as well known for his baseball stories as Cobb is for his humorous articles and his wonderfully dramatic stories of contemporary American life. Cobb and Van Loan recently returned from a trip to the far west, while more recently Mr. Hungerford completed a trip which took him through a majority of the states beyond the Mississippi. Returning east he rode for several hundred miles on the train conveying the Republican candidate, Charles E. Hughes. An interesting special article recounting his experiences while aboard the "Hughes Special" was written by Mr. Hungerford for the Sunday Tribune of two weeks ago.

Child Killed by U. S. Truck.

Seven-year-old Hazel Lyons was run down by a parcels post delivery truck in Newburgh Monday morning and died at a hospital two hours later. With her hand in that of her mother, Mrs. William G. Lyons, the child was crossing the street and she walked out from behind a truck into the path of the truck, a Ford. The child became bewildered and was run down although the car was being driven slowly according to witnesses.

Old Guard Election.

The annual election of officers of the Old Guard will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the armory at which time the officers for the coming year will be chosen. The officers to be elected are a commandant, vice-commandant, secretary and treasurer, together with an executive committee. Plans for the forming of a band and also the annual ball and smoker will be discussed at this time. A large attendance of members is desired.

Kingston W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a regular meeting, Thursday, October 19, in the parlor of St. James's M. E. Church for the election of officers and receiving the reports of the state convention.

LUSITANIA CASE HAS BEEN SETTLED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Official announcement that the Lusitania case has been met and the case is closed is expected today to be made shortly by Secretary of State Lansing. The announcement is expected to accompany the making public of Germany's last note on the Lusitania. Secretary Lansing heretofore has declined to permit publication of the note, although it was announced after it was received on February 16 and the United States and Germany were "substantially in accord."

Complete settlement of the case at that time was prevented by the German order for submarine commanders to sink armed merchantmen without warning after March 1. This order was rescinded, however, in the German pledge to this government in the Sussex case. No explanation has been made as to why the Lusitania case was not then officially closed.

HURRICANE SWEEPS GULF OF MEXICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—A hurricane that has attained a velocity of 90 miles an hour is beginning to wreak havoc at Pensacola, Fla., and Mobile, Ala., according to meager reports which filtered in today over the one telegraph wire still in operation to the two cities. The damage as yet is unknown, the reports said, but the wind was increasing in violence steadily and with no end of the storm in sight, it was feared it would be fully as violent as the storm which in July did damage to property and shipping of $10,000,000.

Forewarned, many small vessels have been hurrying to port for the last thirty-six hours but fear is felt for several big freight vessels which are in the Gulf bound for Europe. At Pensacola the tide early today was two feet above normal.

Presbyterian Synod in Newburgh.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Synod of the State of New York of the Presbyterian Church opened for a three-days session on Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church, Newburgh. Representatives of the Presbyteries from all parts of New York state were gathered at the opening session and included such well known denominational names as the Rev. Dr. F. W. Palmer of Auburn, the Rev. Dr. R. Williams of Elmira, the Rev. Dr. C. G. Ellis of Kingston, the Rev. Dr. John N. McNis of Syracuse, and the Rev. Dr. J. Howard Hobbs of Utica.

State "Polio" Branch Closed.

The State Health Department's branch office, established in Middle-town some weeks after the outbreak of poliomyelitis was closed today. Dr. Laidlaw of Hurleyville will represent the state department in Sullivan and Ulster counties hereafter under supervision of Dr. Charles W. Berry.

FINDS GASOLINE TESTS INACCURATE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Declaring that there now exists no accurate test to determine readily the quality of gasoline, the bureau of standards today issued a statement urging the public to be patient pending discovery of a test—an undertaking upon which the bureau now is engaged.

The bureau's statement said: "In view of the fact that statements have appeared in the press to the effect that the bureau of standards will formulate a test which may be applied by any purchaser to detect at once an inferior product, it becomes necessary to correct any false impression that may have been aroused and to add a brief summary of the situation.

"In the first place, no such simple test is known in the present state of the science of petroleum technology. In the early days of the petroleum industry, when all our gasolines, kerosenes, fuel oils, and lubricating oils were derived from one source, viz., Pennsylvania crude petroleum, a simple measurement of the specific gravity, or what amounts to the same thing, the Baume number, by means of a hydrometer, served as a fairly reliable indication of the qualities of these products.

"Today, however, the specific gravity test is practically worthless as a check on the suitability of a gasoline, for example, for a given motor equipment. The reason why this is so is that many new oil fields have been opened up in recent years that yield petroleum of very different physical and chemical properties and new methods of manufacture have been introduced that yield products having very different properties in no way related to the specific gravities.

"The problem is an extremely complicated one, and presupposes a definition of gasoline. It is highly probable that the specification or definition of standard gasoline and the tests that will be necessary to determine whether the gasoline complies with the specifications will be quite complicated and will require the services of a trained chemist to make them.

"It seems most probable that the definition of gasoline will have to be based on the percentage that distills over between specified temperatures, under specified conditions. This distillation test, speaking in non-technical terms, is a measure of the freedom with which the gasoline will vaporize.

"The gasoline must not vaporize too freely for two reasons, one that it would not be safe, and secondly its loss in storage, by evaporation, would be too great. Hence, the specification may have to contain limitations of the percentage distilling over between a certain temperature, coupled, perhaps, with a proviso that certain percentages shall distill over below other fixed temperatures, in order that requisite amounts of low boiling constituents shall be present to insure easy starting of an engine.

"Likewise the specifications must contain a provision that all must distill over below a certain maximum temperature, in order to exclude from the gasoline the heavier petroleum distillates, such as kerosene.

"Complicated as such a specification as has been briefly outlined above may seem to the layman, it is not at all improbable that other tests must be devised to limit the percentage of so-called aromatic and unsaturated hydrocarbons that may be permitted in a good motor gasoline.

"Another point about which there is often a misunderstanding is the relative efficiency of high and low density gasolines. It is common opinion of gasoline users that gasoline of low specific gravity (or high Baume reading) is more efficient in that they can get more miles out of a gallon. This is not true if the motor equipment is adapted to the fuel used.

"Legislative bodies are beginning to take up this question and much of this legislation is certain to be ill advised, although enacted with the best intentions, because it cannot in the nature of things receive the careful consideration of technical experts that is required for the satisfactory solution of questions of this kind."

LAWYER STRUCK BY WEST SHORE TRAIN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Spectators in Judge Foell's court room were thrown into a panic shortly before noon today when a black-gowned, heavily veiled woman fired three shots at Jacob Klaus, seriously wounding him.

The woman was Mrs. Katherine Marek, whose husband was suing her for divorce, naming Klaus. The woman was quickly overpowered by court attendants, but not before there had been a general rush for exits in which several persons were severely shaken up. Klaus is a brother of a Chicago alderman.

There will be no open season during 1916 or 1917 and the game wardens are taking precautions to see that the law is not violated. A severe penalty will be the result of any violation of the law. There will be open season until October 1, 1918.

THREE BREMENS MADE THE START

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 18.—The New York World today prints a story which it declares was obtained from English sources, saying that the British have captured two German submarines named Bremen. It was stated by the World's informant that a third Bremen now is on its way to this country.

The first Bremen, it was said, was captured in the straits of Dover, while it was zig-zagging under English warships. Nets ensnared her so completely, it was stated, that it required two days to get out the crew, of which five were dead and the others close to final exhaustion. Many important documents were said to have been captured with the U-boat, which is now at Cuxham.

A second Bremen was captured some time later, claims the World's authority, but no details are known.

A MASS MEETING ON GERMAN-RELIEF

The monthly meeting of the Kingston branch of the American Independence Union held Tuesday night at the Hotel Eichler was largely attended. The Rev. A. Schmidt-konz presided. Final arrangements were made for the proposed mass meeting to be held on Sunday, November 5th, at St. Peter's Hall at 2:30 o'clock.

This meeting will be for the benefit of the German war sufferers and the speakers will be the Rev. A. Schmidt-konz who will deliver the opening address, the Rev. Dr. G. C. Borkemeyer, director of the Wartburg Orphans' Home at Mt. Vernon, who will speak in English. The third speaker will be the Rev. John P. Neumann, rector of St. Peter's Church. The Rev. Frederick T. Schroeder, pastor of the Livingston Street German Lutheran Church, will speak in English. A musical program will be rendered under the direction of J. A. Stumpf.

Many persons have expressed themselves as interested in this program for relief work which calls for the raising of funds for the relief of war sufferers in the Fatherland. No doubt there will be a large attendance.

At the close of the business session there was a brief address by the Rev. A. Schmidt-konz, who took for his topic, "Wilson or Hughes?" Above everything else, the pastor said, we must have the welfare of our country at heart when we go to the polls. All other interests or personal sympathies must be secondary to our conscientious interest in the welfare of the United States. Drawing a short comparison between Wilson and Hughes, Pastor Schmidt-konz concluded that considering the immaculate past of Hughes as governor and Judge, we can expect from him only the best. The speaker referred to the wide difference between what the Wilson papers and speakers claim in the east and in the west as their reasons for opposing Hughes. In the east they claim that Hughes is the candidate of the Kaiser, while in the west they claim that Hughes is the puppet of Roosevelt and other radical pro-Ally politicians and a vote for him would be a vote to entangle our country in a war with Germany. Both claims are nonsense. We are electing a president of the United States of America, elected by our people and for our people.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 18, 1916.

Kingston workers include a fair percentage of railroad men, of whom some are members of the brotherhoods which clubbed a 25 per cent wage increase through Congress, while a far greater number are unorganized and a part of the great body of 1,500,000 railway employees not in a position to make effective demands for eight hour day scale or anything else. We wonder what members of this latter class think down in their hearts of the victory that their more fortunate fellow-workers gained in the coercion of the United States government. The engineers and conductors are now, and have been, the highest paid employees, while the men outside the brotherhoods receive an average of nearly fifty per cent less in their pay envelopes. It is difficult to imagine the baggagemen, section hands and workers in the maintenance and clerical departments exhibiting any undue enthusiasm over a raise of twenty-five per cent in the pay of men already drawing from $35 to $65 more a month than their mates employed in less exalted capacities. Why, in this era of social justice, when the sanction of society has been placed on shorter hours and higher pay, are these 1,500,000 railroad workers excluded from the President's program of industrial equity and pacification? Even if the railroads are given an increase in freight rates in order to enable them to meet the increased wage expenditure, the million and a half of men outside the brotherhoods will not share in the benefits. Their plight not only awakens sympathy but inspires indignation at the Adamson law and its author, whose devotion to the eight hour day is stripped clear of pretense and revealed as only another phase of peace-at-any-price expediency.

A petition in behalf of three eighty per cent of railway workers was presented at the White House but the President was too busy to give a hearing to the circulation of the document which bore 105,000 signatures. "The President's calendar is overcrowded," or words to that effect, represent Mr. Wilson's attitude toward the unorganized. Their representative, Robert T. Frasier of Nashville, in notifying his following of the President's unwillingness to include them in the pending measure for boosting the pay of men in the train service, condemned the Adamson act as one simply raising the wages of the highest paid class of railway employees. Any such wage increase, declares Mr. Frasier, "should cover the whole field fairly and equitably or not at all," a position in accordance with elementary justice. How the President can justify his position in urging higher wages for potential strikers, the highest paid operatives in their field, at the same time denying a hearing for a far more numerous though less skilled class, is a mystery unsolved outside his own mental processes. The heads of the bludgeoning brotherhoods expressed themselves as being as much surprised as anyone at the actual passage of the Adamson act. In their case, however, surprise is followed by gratification at a successful hold-up of the government itself; in the case of the public and the million and a half men much further down in the railway wage scale, surprise is succeeded by indignation which can only find satisfaction at the ballot box.

A brand new idea in finance is that offered by the Federal Loan Board, which gravely announces that once Federal farm loans are in effect rural borrowers will have no difficulty in negotiating second mortgages from private investors upon the land already mortgaged as security for the government loan. The element of risk is to be removed from the second mortgage, we are informed, because the government's loan limit is fifty per cent of the value of the property, which leaves an equal security for the second loan. The worst words, "provided there is no depreciation in value," sock out about all there may be of merit in the proposition. In the first place the government is to appraise the land but what guarantee has the borrower that the Federal valuation will be accepted as correct by the investor willing to make a loan on a second mortgage? We cannot see where the incumbrance upon a property, no matter how long the term the loan has to run, enhances a second mortgage as an investment. The government farm loan was designed to be complete in itself and to preclude the necessity of the farmer being dependent upon private capital and customary interest charges. This talk of the ease with which a second mortgage can be negotiated is most disturbing even to the most hopeful friends of the new legislation. It is a confession of weakness on the part of the purveyors of the remedy before it has even been applied to the sore spot it was supposed to heal.

As an illustration of the care with which State Engineer Frank M. Williams expends canal funds, his proposition to erect temporary sheds for barge canal terminals at various points along the enlarged waterways of the State is a splendid example. The legislation which appropriated moneys for these structures at specified cities and villages was mandatory in many respects and the State official had no other alternative than to build such terminals, and contracts for the purchase of the necessary land and the paying of the same have been executed in most instances. When it came to spending State money for terminal warehouses at these points, the State Engineer balked at taking chances on possibilities as to the dimensions of canal traffic and has taken the proper attitude that no permanent buildings will be erected save where conditions so warrant. In order to arrive at the volume of shipping at the different points, Mr. Williams plans to erect temporary sheds sufficient to meet requirements along the sections of enlarged canal. Upon the records made in these establishments will depend the expenditure of public moneys for terminals. This is a most sensible and economical program. The State has no money to waste in building terminals to stand unused as monuments to governmental extravagance. The State Engineer's position is to be commended by all interested in safeguarding the public funds so often wasted by inefficient administration in vain efforts to gratify local pride.

FOR FRUIT GROWERS.

Special Practical Course of 12 Weeks
Offered at Cornell.

A practical course for fruit growers, beginning November 8, and continuing twelve weeks, is offered free to the residents of New York by the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University. Those who have charge of the course feel that the great value and the complicated nature of the state's fruit industry warrants a large response from young men intending to make their living in the fruit business.

It is announced that to make the course complete and well rounded it will include instruction in the subject of soils, plant diseases, insect enemies, as well as fruit growing itself. The course in soils is aimed to give the student a thorough knowledge of the handling of fruit soils, and it will include draining, fertilizing, tilth and cultivating. The course having to do with diseases and insects, it is stated, should enable those who have completed the course not only to combat the diseases and insects that are controlled by the sprays ordinarily applied in an orchard, but also to control special insect and diseases that may be particularly troublesome, or to cope with the commoner enemies in years when weather conditions make the work especially difficult.

Under the general subject of fruit growing the student will be brought in contact with the best practices adapted to New York conditions. Lectures will be laid on a study of conditions, which will affect the whole country. Thus the fruit grower may see his work from a broad point of view, and know the conditions which influence fruit prices and fruit markets in other sections of the country. The course in fruit growing will be under Professor Ralph W. Rees, who has recently taken up his work at Cornell. He has had long experience in the fruit business and is acquainted with the fruit industry on the Pacific coast, and in New York and New England.

Voting Machines Unconstitutional.

Under a ruling of Supreme Court Justice Crouch in Syracuse, paper ballots must be used in Onondaga County at the coming presidential election and voting machines will not be used for any part of the election. It was held that the use of the machines would be unconstitutional as violating the element of secrecy for the ballot. In order to split a ticket for presidential electors a voter would be required to use a paper ballot in addition to the machine. Under this decision the only legal and constitutional method for the election is the paper ballot. Similar applications are being made to other counties to throw out the machines.

Copyright Hart Schaffner &amp; Marx

ANY store that's right for young men is pretty sure to be right for all men; and as soon as they find out that it is right, they crowd it.

That's the idea; all we've got to do is to be sure this is the right store for young men, and the crowding ought to follow; the crowding's what we're after.

"Then you couldn't have had such a close shave."—Baltimore American.

The diamond is pure carbon or charcoal, but the secret processes by which nature rearranges the atoms of the black, lusterless charcoal into the flashing diamond is a mystery that the chemists, stimulated by the certainty of great gains provided they were successful in finding the solution, have never been able to discover. Nor is it certainly known from what department nature takes the diamond making material. It is supposed to be furnished by vegetable charcoal which undergoes a peculiar process of decomposition and crystallization, but it has also been conjectured that the carbonic acid, shut up from remote periods in the calcareous rocks, may have solidified in this peculiar form.

Deluding the Dog.

When forced to travel all night the Siberian natives make a practice of stopping just before sunrise and allowing their dogs to sleep.

They argue that if a dog goes to sleep while it is yet dark and wakes up in an hour and finds the sun shining he will suppose that he has had a full night's rest and will travel all day without thinking of being tired.—London Telegraph.

How Wheat Came to Earth.

A classic account of the distribution of wheat over the primeval world shows that Ceres, having taught her favorite, Triptolemos, the art of agriculture and the science of breadmaking, gave him her chariot, a celestial vehicle, and that in it he traveled night and day, distributing this valuable bread grain among all nations of the earth.

Tired Tropical Trees.

The condition of life in a tropical forest is sunlight, and to get to the top, where alone there is sunlight, is the constant aim of every tree. They have no winter's rest in the tropics, and they are so hard at work all day long that at night the trees seem quite tired out. From dawn to sunset the trees are hard at work. You can almost see some of them growing, and, as may naturally be supposed, they must have a little rest at night. The tree is thoroughly exhausted, its branches lose their stiffness, while the leaves droop and fold themselves together. Unlike those of temperate climates, the trees of the tropics all, more or less, show signs of exhaustion toward sunset.

GLAD HEARTS.

There are souls in the world who have the gift of finding joy everywhere and of leaving it behind them when they go. Their influence is an inevitable gladdening of the heart. They give light without meaning to shine. These bright hearts have a great work to do for God.—Faber.

NO MISFIT GOWN FOR THE JUDGE

Marvelous Spectacle of Last June on the Banks of the Old Raritan Was Not Repeated Last Week.

Rutgers College celebrated the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its foundation at New Brunswick last week, many Ulster county men being in attendance. Representatives of one hundred and ninety-two universities and colleges, including Oxford, Cambridge and the University of Japan, joined in the academic procession, which was one of the most brilliant ever seen in this country. Among the honorary degrees bestowed was that of Doctor of Laws upon Joseph H. Choate, Baron Chuzaburo Shiba of the Imperial University of Japan, and Chevalier the Honorable W. L. F. C. van Rappard, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary from the Netherlands to the United States. Judge Clearwater was selected to present the Chevalier van Rappard for his degree, which he did, and upon this occasion the judge wore his brilliant purple banded, scarlet hooded silk gown as Doctor of Laws. It will be remembered by the readers of The Freeman that at last June's commencement at Rutgers the judge said that he forgot this gown, whereupon his colleagues in the board of trustees of the college fitted him out with a gown made for a man nearly seven feet tall. Over one thousand guests attended the anniversary dinner.

Velocity of Raindrops.

Of course we all know that it would be an utter impossibility for storm clouds to form and rain to fall were it not for the miles of atmosphere that rises above our heads. But, supposing it were possible for human beings to exist in an atmosphere that only rose to a level with their mouths and that storm clouds could form in the region outside such a low grade atmosphere, then every raindrop would prove as fatal to earthly creatures as if it were a steel bullet fired from a dynamite gun.—London Nature.

A Naval Revenge.

Cook—Yes, my mistress is a prima donna and a horrible creature. She treats me like the dirt beneath her feet, but I revenge myself by opening the drawing room window when she is not at home and by howling with all my might so that the neighbors may think her voice is cracked.—Fliegende Blaetter.

A Frequent Occurrence.

A colored man employed by an Atlanta merchant was found to be short in his market book accounts and was accordingly taken to task. He blamed the grocer, claiming that he had tampered with the book.

Whereupon the employer remonstrated further, saying:

"The account seems to be all right, Tom. Figures don't lie."

"Ah know, sah," said Tom, "but I lars do figger, dat's shore."—New York Times.

Portugal's Big Diamond.

It is claimed for the Braganza, which formed part of the Portuguese crown jewels, that it is the biggest diamond in the world, weighing 1,800 carats. Some doubt exists, however, as to whether it is a real diamond, as no official record can be authenticated. It was found in Brazil in 1741.—London Telegraph.

IMPROVING FIELD PLANTS.

Corn Readily Lends Itself to Producing New Varieties.

That a farmer can improve his field plants and thus increase the yield of his crops has been proved not only by the numerous experiment stations, but by farmers themselves, according to H. E. Roberts, professor of botany in the Kansas State Agricultural college. Professor Roberts is in charge of the plant genetics work at this station.

"Plant breeding is not practicable on the average farm," says Professor Roberts, "but by selecting and preserving the best types he finds in fields he can get encouraging results. Taking advantage of nature's work in crossing plants, the farmer is able to improve his field plants by the process of selection. There is not a single crop plant that does not offer a great many opportunities in this direction.

"Corn probably is the best example of an agricultural plant in which new varieties are produced by natural field crossing. The wind scatters the pollen of some corn plants upon the silks of others in the same or adjoining fields. This natural crossing gives rise to the large number of variations to be found in the average cornfield.

"Any farmer can begin by selecting plants in the cornfield—plants showing superior vigor, stockiness, abundance of foliage, ears at right distance from stalk, and so on.

"Any farmer can thus originate his own variety or strain of corn by careful, rigid and continued selection carried on year after year. By selection the farmer is not creating new plants, as is the case in crossing, but he is saving out that which nature has provided as the result of its process of crossing.

"What has been said of corn holds true of wheat, oats, barley and the sorghums so far as selection goes. Although there is little, if any, crossing by nature as far as wheat, oats and barley are concerned. It is easy to get a pure strain in working with the smaller cereals, as they are naturally self-fertilized and seldom crossed by nature and consequently generally come true from the seed.

"The sorghums cross freely. Almost any average field of Knoll, milo, fetter and the sweet sorghums shows a variety of plants that are 'off type' due to natural crossing in the field in previous years.

Stop Those Gophers! (At F. Miller, Niagara station.) Small gophers that have started in the field should be stopped by filling them with straw or similar material. If the gopher is large it is advisable to plow in soil on top of this material and sow to oats or later to sorghum so that the crop will come up thick and form a strong root mass to bind the soil together.

The proper use of debris for filling and rank growing plants for holding the soil will stop most washes entirely. Utter vigilance, however, is necessary for complete success.

FARM GARDEN POINTERS

Celery will stand a pretty heavy frost, but it should never be allowed to freeze.

Place cuttings of currants, gooseberry and grape in bundles and bury in dry sand for spring planting.

The perennial sweet pea is an excellent plant for growing on fences and the like. It is perfectly hardy and improves with age.

It is almost impossible to get the garden soil too fertile. Manure the entire surface this fall with manure from pig and sheep pens.

In marketing onions the first essential is properly to grade and clean the bulbs in order that they may present an attractive appearance when offered for sale.

A few tomato plants well set with green fruit, pulled up just before the first frost of the season and hung up in a shed where safe from a frost, will give you ripe tomatoes for weeks.

A Possibility.

PROPHETS' "DOPE" ON TANK WARFARE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Oct. 18.—H. G. Wells, the famous novelist was a proud man on his fiftieth birthday. On that day, his vision of a new war horror, which he described nine years ago, as "something between a blockhouse and a giant dish cover," materialized in the death-dealing "tanks" which wrought such havoc with the Germans on the Somme.

Wells's description, "a large and clumsy black insect—an insect the size of an ironclad cruiser, crawling obliquely to the first line of trenches and firing shots out of portholes in its back. The thing was putting down its feet one after another and hoisting itself farther and farther over the trench. It continued to crawl until it was all over. As soon as a gun came into play the monster turned itself almost on end and made, not for the gun, but for the nearest point on its flank from which the gunners could be shot down," was not exactly original.

The idea of these "land-dreadnoughts" and to some extent the application of it, has existed since the dawn of civilization. Bible students will find many texts in the Old Testament which they may acclaim as prophecies, concerning this latest man-killing device.

What can be a finer and terser description of the dreadful destructive powers of these modern cars of Juggernaut, which demolish houses and tear down trees, than the familiar verse from the Book of Job:—"He esteemeth iron as straw and brass as rotten wood?"

Or again, "After this I saw in the night visions, and behold a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth; it devoured and brake in pieces and stamped the residue with the feet of it; and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before, and it had ten horns." (Daniel VII, 7.)

An undoubted prototype of the "tank" was used at the siege of Rhodes several centuries before the Christian era. Prince Demetrius son of a king of Asia, to reduce the city advanced to the foot of the walls, says Herodotus, "a moving citadel of wood plated with iron. This edifice, called the Helepolis, was of prodigious size, had nine stories and might be moved every way. A multitude of archers, placed on the top of the moving tower, showered down their arrows on the besieged. The strongest tower of Rhodes and a great part of the wall were thrown down."

Had motive power, outside of human and horse been known, the war chariots of the Scythians, Persians and ancient Britons would rapidly have been evolved into something resembling the "tank."

Indeed, it has been the limitations of horse and man power only that has prevented the evolution of the tank from being used for centuries. Leonardo da Vinci, the great Italian artist and inventor of the fifteenth century, who designed a near approach to a modern aeroplane, also invented quite an up-to-date "tank." He had perfectly sound ideas for the construction of both flying-machines and "land-dreadnoughts."

The steam-engine and the gas motor, however, had not been evolved. Consequently, the world had to wait for these inventions until the development of power production brought them within the range of practical engineering. An Italian engineer, Antoni Balbi, in 1850 invented a heavily armored car, with caterpillar wheels for climbing, similar to those in use in the United States and British artillery for the past eight years.

Balbi's invention was driven by team and carried two guns and a number of riflemen. A revolving scythe which was devised to cut down any of the enemy who approached close to it, was fixed on each side and propelled at a furious rate of steam when necessary.

This car was offered to Napoleon III and also to Lord Palmerston. It passed several successful tests, but, owing to the conservatism of both the French and British War Offices, it was turned down. Napoleon I, it will be remembered, refused Fulton's steamboat.

Snat the Billboard.
Farm and Fireside, in an editorial, protests against disfiguring the country by leasing billboard rights to railroads. It says: "Why in the world will farmers lease to advertising concerns the right to erect lines of billboards along railroad rights of way? It is one of the most excusable and unprofitable disfigurements of the country. It breaks up the tilling plans of the field, and it leaves a bad taste in the mouth of the railroad travelers."

"The farmers who let his barn be used as a signboard for pills, in consideration of having bad paint put on it, advertise himself as thrifless. The man who cuts into a good field in order to get a few dollars from a liver cure or a blend of booze is losing sure money to what he foolishly regards as easy money."

"One of the advantages of owning a farm that thousands of railroad passengers see every day is the possibility that some of them will fancy and want to buy it. If statistics on the subject could be had it would be astonishing that so many sales come this way. Well, the farmer who plasters his land over with circus paper and patent-medicine propaganda is in effect saying: "I can't make this land pay—just farming it."

Some Thing.
An office charge of a company of infantry on the ranges at —, winning to time the rapid firing," turned to the company and asked if anyone had a watch with a second hand. There was no answer for a few moments, when one of the "last batch" remarked: "Please, sir, I have a second-hand one."

The line of parade was as follows: On the first auto were the president of the village, Louis A. Hoonbeck; Trustees Henry Canner and Edward E. Kimble; second auto, Frank J. Potter, George Andrews, trustees; third auto, John A. Hoonbeck, president of Scoresby's, J. M. Hoonbeck, Alfred Catherwood and William C. Rose. Chief Charles G. A. Fischer and staff followed. Clayton's Band headed the three fire companies with their hose carriages and trucks drawn by handsome horses and Scoresby's handsome chemical engine in brand new dress of red with gold trim, pronounced by the large crowd along the line of march to be a very beautiful machine as well as so useful. The three fire companies each had a large representation of their members and were spick and span in their handsome uniforms. Pioneers were in the lead, Kimbles, followed by Scoresbys. Directly after the parade the companies returned to Liberty Square and were inspected and then disbanded.

It Must Be So!
Feminism, like socialism, is difficult to confine within the boundaries of a formula. Mr. W. L. George, in "Woman and Tomorrow," has done what is possible in this direction. Feminism, he says, is, broadly, the furthering of the interests of women, philosophically the leveling of the sexes, and specifically the social and political emancipation of woman.

If you hired a General Manager on two years' trial—

If that General Manager appointed as his assistants men of honesty and ability who earnestly worked to put your business on an efficient basis—

If he eliminated waste, saved useless expenditure and dismissed employees who had been kept on the payroll not because they were needed in the conduct of your business, but because they were friends of other employees—

If he and his associates carried on your business in a quiet, sensible, honorable way, using prudence in spending your money and diligence in collecting for you the money due you from others—

If his work and the work of his associates showed a striking and pleasing improvement over the work of your last three General Managers who had nearly run your business into bankruptcy—

Wouldn't you give him your undivided and loyal support?
And wouldn't you make every effort to keep him for two years more rather than "take a chance" with a new and untried manager?

Your present State administration has served you in a capacity similar to the General Manager referred to above. It has "made good" in a large way. It has restored your State Government to a basis of efficiency after overcoming the handicaps of poor State management by three preceding administrations. It deserves your support at the polls no matter what your "politics" may be.

Will YOU go to the polls and support the administration that has once more made you proud of your State Government?

The testator leaves his estate in trust for his grandson, Courtney Sebring, whose care, maintenance and education are to be provided for until he reaches the age of 25 years, when the principal is to be paid to him. In the event of Courtney's death prior to that time, the testator directs that the trust estate shall be converted into cash and the proceeds divided among his nephews and nieces: Lewis Beck Sebring of Schenectady, Cornelius C. Sebring, Elizabeth Sebring, Anna L. Sebring, widow of Howard J. Wilson, of the town of Lodi, Seneca county, and Alice Sebring, wife of John E. Newley of the town of Lodi, or to their descendants. Lewis Beck Sebring of Schenectady is appointed executor and trustee. The will was executed March 24, 1916, and witnessed by Rufus Crawford and George F. Kaufman, both of Saugerties. The value of the real estate is $6,825 and the personal property amounts to $12,671. Harry H. Merrill of Schenectady appeared for the executor.

The will of Mary Gurney of this city was admitted to probate. The testatrix gives her estate to Patrick Temple in trust to convert the same into cash within one year and to pay $100 to Rose Grimes, daughter of John Grimes; $250 each to Patrick Temple and Thomas Temple, his brother; $500 to her niece, Mary Leahy, wife of James Leahy, of Buffalo; $200 to Catherine Rigney, daughter of John Rigney of East Kingston, and the balance to Joseph A. Sheppard of this city. Patrick Temple, son of Patrick Temple of Washington, D. C., is appointed executor. The will was executed October 8, 1913, and witnessed by Christopher A. ### EARLY RAILROAD FLIERS.

When the Threat of Twelve Miles an Hour Was Called Nonsense.

When the first passenger railroad over built was opened in England in 1825 the train traveled from one end of the line to the other, a distance of twelve miles, in two hours. And Wood, one of the best known writers on the subject of railroads at that day, wrote as follows:

"Nothing can do more harm to the adoption of railways than the promulgation of such nonsense as that we shall see locomotives traveling at the rate of twelve miles an hour."

Today, with locomotives traveling at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour, one can look at Wood's warning with a feeling of amusement.

In 1824 a locomotive was introduced in this country, and in the following year Peter Cooper experimented with a locomotive on the E. and O. railroad. The flues of the boiler were made from gun barrels. The boiler was about the size of a four barrel.

Cooper related with considerable satisfaction how on the trial trip of this wonderful engine he passed a gray horse attached to a wagon.—New York World.

Double Stars.

A double star is one which consists of two stars lying close together and revolving in an orbit. For some time Professor Comstock, astronomer of the University of Wisconsin, has made a particular study of this feature in the heavens.

A new phenomenon is a double star which he noticed was that two bright stars "wobbled" and did not have the usual steady appearance. At length the conclusion was reached that this condition was caused by a dark star in close proximity to the two bright stars. Such a situation was considered impossible at first, but analysis revealed that the two bright stars could thus exist with a dark star without breaking down. Although the dark star has never been seen, there is sufficient proof to justify the belief that it is the cause of this double star's peculiar behavior. It revolves about the double star about once in a little less than twelve years.

Could Not Be Disturbed.

Nibbleson Jon never was the laziest man in town he always had strength to hold a book or a magazine in his hand. It was only in emergencies that the neighbors called upon him for help. One hot day in July, when the clouds threatened rain, a farmer hurried to his shack and asked him to "rake after" the last load of hay.

Jon hesitated a minute, and then his eye fell upon a pile of old magazines that were stacked in a corner of the sagging piazza.

"Well, now, I'd like to help out," was the reply, "but I'll have to refuse ye this time. I'm a little behind with my reading."—Youth's Companion.

EDUCATION.

Try to acquire the proper kind of education. Learning is not education. A man may possess a vast amount of learning and yet be a fool. Mere information is not education. To know how to make the right use of information is the only education worthy of the name. The encyclopedia is packed with all the scientific and literary facts of the world, but it cannot use one of them.—Bruce Calvert.

J., one of trustees of the Tilden estate. A paper from the splendid library of the Garden Clubs of America, on "Color Schemes," proved very interesting as read by Mrs. Charles De La Vergne. The next meeting of the Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Phelps in Saugerties.

Moschler-Lais.
A pretty autumn wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home of Fred Taylor, Sr., when his granddaughter, Miss Hilda Lais, became the bride of Elton Moschler of Clintondale. The ceremony took place on the lawn, the bride walking through an aisle of ribbon extending from the house to an altar of green and autumn flowers. The Rev. John Piper, pastor of the Friends Church of Clintondale, performed the ceremony in the presence of sixty guests. Miss Helen Piper played the wedding march. The bride was given away by her grandfather, Fred Taylor. Miss Lais wore a charming gown of white net and satin. Her little veil was made in cap effect and caught up effectively with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Mary Taylor, an aunt of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Ruby Gray of Middleburgh and Miss Rennie Tiel of Clintondale were the bridesmaids. Irene Shafer of New Paltz and Lillie Tiel of Clintondale acted as flower girls. The bridegroom had as his best man the bride's brother, William Lais. The ushers were Fred Taylor and Lawrence Tiel. The house was decorated in a color scheme of pink and white for the reception. A wedding breakfast was served. Many lovely gifts were received. The couple left on their wedding trip to Saugerties and Lake George. The bride's gown was white and she wore a white hat and shoes to match. On their return they will reside in a newly furnished home on State street, Clintondale. Both are well known and popular in Clintondale and have been married at the home of the bride's parents.

Olympian Club

The Olympian Club met on Monday evening at the home of Miss Florence Schmitt on Delaware avenue. Following a report on Current Topics, Mrs. A. McCallough gave a remarkably interesting paper on "How the other half eats, under the main subject, 'Industrial Arts.' Both the Occidental and Oriental views of the subject were presented, showing the different kinds of food eaten by different peoples. Methods of preparing food also came in for due consideration as did the actual methods of eating. The paper was followed by two readings, one "A Houndful of Clay" by Henry Van Dyke, given by Miss R. Finn, the other "The Telling of Felix" by Van Dyke and given by Miss Cordes. The club will hold its next meeting on October 26th, at the home of Mrs. Nickerson, when the program will include Current Topics, "History of Weaving," by Miss Sullivan, "Wesward Trend of the Dying Industry," by Miss White, "The Origin of Species," (from "Little Aliens") by Mrs. Kelly, given by Mrs. Bridge-

man. For the remainder of the year the program will be as follows:—

the man who made the dollar watch famous, said yesterday:—

"The 'Commonwealth Idea' is not after all unique, except in detail. It is based on a principle as old as the hills, and as sound as the rock of ages. It merely is one of the latest and most practical adaptations of the idea to our complex modern life.

"Realization of the 'Commonwealth Idea' will return two-fold dividends: First and most important, the proof that 150,000 people in 100,000,000 may readily be found who have faith in their ability to co-operate for their mutual advancement—what a power will such an army possess for other needed work! Second, the financial dividends, the social benefits and business gains.

"The $100 subscribed may not make the stockholder rich, but the cash dividends will be well worth while; and the service dividends, and the participation in a great co-operative movement, will be a by-product that rarely accompanies a purely commercial proposition.

"This is the inspiration of all churches, all philanthropies, beneficial orders, all granges, all trades unions, and political parties; and all governments themselves are great fundamental examples of co-operation."

FIELD OF SPORTS.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.
By Telegraph to The Freeman

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—Johnny Dundee was victor over Jimmy Hanlon in 12 fast rounds here last night. Hanlon put up a hard fight and in the 11th round had Dundee on the run.

St. Paul, Oct. 18.—The date of the Jack Dillon Mike Gibbons bout has been definitely set for November 19. The original date was November 14.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Seven cities this year will make up the American National Hockey League in a revival of the King of Winter sports, according to announcements here today. Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, New York and Brooklyn will have teams, according to Dr. P. M. Sizoo of Pittsburgh, vice-president of the league.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Sidney Hatch, Chicago's veteran runner, was still running easily today in his effort to break the record between Milwaukee and Chicago, a distance of 100 miles. Abe Montevideo of New York, still was in training along with him and it was likely the record of 18 hours, 17 minutes, set by Albert Carr in 1907, would fall.

New York, Oct. 18.—Jack Dillon's admirers here are somewhat disappointed today over his showing last night against Timothy O'Neill, of Chicago. The "Giant Killer" out-punched O'Neill, but couldn't put him out, although he tried to do so from beginning to end of the ten rounds.

New York, Oct. 18.—Rumors were revived here today that the American League franchise in Washington would be transferred to Brooklyn the Senators using the Dodgers' field. The owners of the Washington club are said to have become disgusted with the poor patronage there and want to shift to some other city, preferably Brooklyn, before the 1917 season begins. The rumors have cropped up several times but always were denied.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Oct. 18.—No Boston team ever lost a world series, and none ever will be conquered while Dame Fortune continues to smile so sweetly upon the athletes from the city of culture and baked beans.

Five times Boston has entered a club in the blue ribbon event of baseball—and five times has Boston taken unto itself the first prize. Why? Partly because those Boston Clubs have been great ball ones, but oftener, it would seem, because luck is with Boston; that every time some "break" comes it comes to favor them.

Skidding back to 1903, when the Hub City made its first entry in the big affair, one finds that luck saved the Red Sox of that year from being beaten when it seemed that all hope was lost.

The game had gone to the ninth inning. The Sox were three runs behind, and if they lost that game the series would be over. In some way or other they got three men on bases, and needed four runs to win. Two men were out. The batter rolled a puny grounder to Wagner, at short. The "Flying Dutchman" picked it up, pulled back his arm and swung to make the throw to first for the final out which would give the championship to the Pirates.

But at the very second the Boston rooters band struck up "Tessie" then a new and popular song. It seemed out of the first strains at the very fraction of a second that Wagner's arm was swinging for the throw and the noise so unsettled Honus that he threw the ball into the grandstand, permitting four runs to score, giving the game—and ultimately the series—to the Sox.

In 1913 luck again was with the Sox. They got the majority of the "breaks" all the way. In the final inning of the final game, Fortson smiled again upon the Bostonian batters. The Giants were in the lead, and it looked like the game and the series for them. Up stepped a Boston batter who promptly knocked the ball out in the direction of Fred Snodgrass. The Giant outfielder didn't have to move more than three feet for it. It was one of the easiest chances ever offered to any player in the series. And Snodgrass, made the milt that now is history. The fizzle enabled the Sox to rally enough to win the game and the championship.

If it wasn't luck what was it that assisted Frank Gowdy in that 1911 affair? The Braves catcher never hit much beyond 350 before that series—or since. Yet in that event, he was the baffling demon the box who belted the balls to all portions of the lot who hit for extra bases almost every time he was up. At least a half dozen other times in that series luck was with the Braves.

It was luck that went over the hurdles in four jumps. In 1916 the Red Sox beat the Phillies four out of five. They were a better team, perhaps, but none can deny that it was luck that a dod they materially in their triumph. Everything broke nicely for them. In that final game their only chance for victory was to pole out a few homers. And they did it. But each of their circuit swats were lucky ones. The balls bounding into the lot. Not one was an out-of-the-boat ball, not one would have been better than a two banger on any other ball field.

Coming now to this 1916 affair, one finds that luck favored the Sox again. Even without it they probably would have vanquished the men of Ebels but luck enabled them to do it quickly. They won that second game, the 14 inning affair, 2 to 1. Yet the Dodgers should have won 4 to 0 in nine stanzas. They didn't because the Sox were lucky. With the Dodgers one run to the good and a man on third, Ruth batted easily to Cutshaw. Had Cutshaw picked up the ball cleanly and thrown it to the plate, he would have nipped Scott by ten feet. But Fate ruled that he should bobble—and Scott scored the run that tied it up and prolonged the game until the 11th when Garner won it with a long single.

That was just one instance of sex and where the "breaks" favored the Sox, where the proverbial Boston luck which has saved its teams on four previous occasions helped it 1916 reorganization to keep untarnished the Beantown record of never having lost a world series quartet.

Two Drunks Jailed.

William Weyman and Charles Masten, two young men, came to Kingston on Tuesday and proceeded to get drunk. They were finally rounded up by Officers C. Murphy and Simpson, and this morning were arraigned before Recorder Lang. They pleaded guilty to being drunk, and asked for another chance. One said he lived in Chicago, and the other in Haverstraw. They said that a gang of boys chased them and threw stones at them while they were trying to walk out of town. They were given five days each in the county jail and advised when their time expired to get out of town or they would serve six months in the pen at Albany.

Take It Easy.

Steady work is more desirable on the farm than overwork. Those who attempt to do more than they are able to stand soon break down and are not able to accomplish permanent results. The best way is to adopt a system and work regular hours, taking care to attempt no more than may be easily accomplished.—Farm Life

CARMAN OFFERED BARGAIN FUNERALS

During the time that Mr. Humiston and Mr. Carman were both in the undertaking business in Kerhonkson and shortly before Mr. Carman became unable to take care of his business and was committed to the Middletown hospital for the insane, the competition in the business became so strong that Mr. Carman had bills printed advertising funerals for either $25 or $27.50, including everything, and although these enticing bills were distributed broadcast through the country, business continued to fall off and Mr. Humiston secured practically all the work there was in and about Kerhonkson. So runs the story of one of Mr. Carman's former employees, who was called to testify in the action now being tried before Judge Haskin in supreme court.

Practically the same line of testimony as was introduced at the last trial was given in the present action, although the elapse of some seven years since the first fire had dulled the memory of several of the witnesses and it was necessary to refer to the stenographer's minutes several times in order to freshen the memories as to the details of the fire which destroyed the barns of Mr. Humiston back in 1909.

The case will be continued today and will probably go to the jury late in the day.

DANIEL CADY, POLICE INSPECTOR.

POLICE INSPECTOR DEFIES STRIKERS' BULLETS IN BAYONNE STRIKE.

Inspector Daniel Cady.

Anonymous notes threatening his life and three bullets whizzing past his head as he patrolled the strike zone in Bayonne, N. J., have not frightened Inspector Daniel Cady, of the Bayonne police force, who is in command of the patrolmen in the strike district. Cady has issued orders to his men to "shoot to kill." More than 12,000 men employed in the oil works at Bayonne are out. The strikers declare they have the support of the American Federation of Labor and that there is no possibility of a settlement until the oil companies grant their demands for an increase in wages.

MAKING UMBRELLAS.

The Work of Assembling the Frames and Putting on Covers.

In most umbrella factories the task of turning out ribs and stems is left to other factories making a specialty of those parts. These are sent to the manufacturer, and the man whose work it is to assemble the parts inserts a bit of wire into the small holes at the end of the ribs, draws them together about the main rod and adjusts the ferrule.

In cutting the cloth or silk seventy-five thicknesses, or thereabouts, are arranged upon a table at which skilled operators work. In one department they are girls who operate hemming machines. A thousand yards of hemmed goods is a day's work for one of these girls. The machines doing this job attain a speed of some 1,000 revolutions a minute. After the hemming has been done the cloth or silk is cut into triangular pieces with a knife, as before, but with a pattern laid upon the cloth. The next operation is the sewing of the triangular pieces together by machinery.

The covers and frames are now ready to be brought together. In all there are twenty-one places where the cover is to be attached to the frame. The handle is next glued on, and the umbrella is ready for pressing and inspection.

A Possibility.

Strangers in the city need have but little trouble in getting about on the street cars, we declared. "They run frequently and—'Eh-rah!' returned old Fester Pester. "But perhaps some of the strangers do not come to town for the sole purpose of running frequently."

JAILBREAKER SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Thomas Sinnott of Saugerties was arraigned before Recorder Lang at the court house on Tuesday afternoon on a charge of jail breaking, and upon his plea of guilty he was sentenced to four months in the Albany penitentiary.

Sinnott was sent to the county jail the past summer to serve sixty days for public intoxication. After he had been in jail while he behaved so well that when he asked if he would be allowed to sweep out the corridors his request was granted. One day when no one was looking he dropped his broom and picking up a hat and coat, walked out. This was in August. He was caught two weeks later and brought back to jail to serve out his sentence of sixty days. His time expired on Tuesday, when he was immediately rearrested.

D. H. DELMAS, FORMERLY A NOTED LAWYER ARRESTED AS ALLEGED SWINDLER.

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—A young man who says he is D. H. Delmas, a nephew of Delphin M. Delmas, the noted western lawyer who once defended Harry K. Thaw, is under arrest here, charged with alleged swindling operations amounting to $150.

It is alleged that young Delmas has a long record of swindling operations, wrecking banks and jail breaking and that he toured the world in a love romance with a girl who finally was the means of his being arrested here. An army of detectives had been following his trail around the world.
